

Travelers report on summer trips

Trip report 3 - Michael Branham

"Matachica Resort is incredible!" said Michael Branham.

"I highly recommend it for honeymooners or maybe someone wanting a quiet getaway with beautiful water. Secluded about 5 miles north of San Pedro on Ambergris Caye Beach in Belize, this little boutique hotel enjoys an unbelievable location: its 22 thatched roof cottages face the second greatest barrier reef in the world.

"The resort is isolated. To get to the resort means taking a boat from the airport or little village. If you happen to get tired of doing nothing but being a beach bum, eating and drinking fruit drinks, there is great snorkeling, kayaking, parasailing, fishing, cave tubing and zip lining to pass the time. It was very easy to take the water boats into the fishing village for a meal, an activity, or to become a part of the local color.

"There was always something good cooking at Elvi's Kitchen in San Pedro, and, for nighttime enjoyment, tell your clients not to miss Thursday night Chicken Drop at a local bar on the beach.

"Matachica is a fun remote escape. Flight connections are easy. Everyone speaks English. There is no problem with the currency and the resort itself is beautiful. Don't hesitate to tell your travelers about it!"
